On-Site Assessment Services

Accurate Assessments

Initiating a Managed Print Services (MPS) program can seem complex, especially for large multi-site or campus environments. The first step towards optimization is a clear and thorough assessment of all your output devices. Software based data collection tools can obtain valuable information about device identification and usage. However these tools cannot indicate real-world variables such as location, number of local users, distance to device, and complete model specifications.

The best method for capturing the necessary information about a print environment is through a Print4 On-Site Assessment. We thoroughly examine each device for complete specifications, working condition, features, environment, location, accessibility, and network capability. We go beyond a baseline assessment to customize the criteria for your business need.

Turning Problems into Opportunity

Print4 On-Site Assessments identify problems like non-networked and rogue devices, outdated or broken equipment, inaccessible locations, and decommissioned devices. We transform this information into an opportunity to right-size, optimize, and if necessary, upgrade your print environment. Print4 is the only total solution that provides on-going total lifecycle support for your print devices.

“The first step towards optimization is securing a clear sense of what you have, how it works, and understanding if it’s what you really need.”

- We perform a thorough inspection of every networked output device
- We customize our services to your match your business needs
- Each device is documented for key attributes and the physical environment within the network
- We identify problems and turn them into optimization opportunities
- Perfect for networks with 150+ printers and output devices

On-Site Assessment Services

FAQs	Feature	Benefit
What is it?	A detailed inspection of every output device on your network.	Provides accurate picture of device specification, usage, status, and location.
Who is this for?	Multi-site or Campus-based networks with 150+ printers and output devices.	Our experts know what to look for and operate in a professional manner as to not disrupt your daily business activities.
Why do I need it?	On-site Assessments go beyond the device information obtained using software-based discovery tools by detailing the total device configuration, status, and local environment.	Provides a real world view of the print environment that can reveal important information unseen at the network management level.
What is the value?	Complete asset documentation, physical environment mapping and identification of rightsizing and streamlining the print environment.	Offers the best first step in optimizing and rationalizing to gain an efficient and cost effective output device fleet.
How do I begin?	Contact us today!	Our commitment to the partner ecosystem guarantees the best technology, services, and ongoing support.
